

NEW YORK

THE APPROVAL MATRIX | NOV. 3, 2023

Compiled by Dominique Pariso and Chris Stanton

HIGHBROW

Striking autoworkers get big wins in tentative deals with Ford, GM.

Lizzy Lunday's ultravivid painted mash-ups at Fredericks & Freiser.

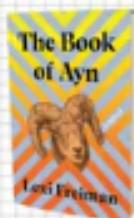

Erin Milez's stuffed mandala-like paintings of food and family at Monya Rowe Gallery.

Covenant, from the Roundabout Theatre Company, tells a spooky campfire story.

The avant-garde women of Fluxus at the Japan Society.

Lexi Freiman's discomfiting satire of objectivism, The Book of Ayn.

Ed Park's latest, Same Bed Different Dreams, depicts an alternate history of Korea.

Cello king Sheku Kanneh-Mason returns to Carnegie Hall with Bach and Britten.

The unruly, vaping reporters in the overflow rooms of the Sam Bankman-Fried trial.

Gwyneth Paltrow's new Goop holiday-gift guides have a $15,000 vibrator and a Champagne sword.

BRILLIANT

Photo: Penguin Random House (Frieman, Park); Monya Rowe Gallery (Milez); Revival Vape/Flickr (vape); Getty (UAW); Joan Marcus (Covenant); Goop (vibrator); Ollie Ali (Sheku); Fredericks & Freiser (Lunday)