

Aubrey Levinthal @ Nancy Margolis Gallery

<http://www.gorkysgranddaughter.com/2017/09/aubrey-levinthal-sept-2017.html>

Aubrey Levinthal, Election Night, 2017, oil on panel, 48 x 48 inches (courtesy of Nancy Margolis Gallery)

Zachary Keeting and Christopher Joy interview painter Aubrey Levinthal at her exhibition at Nancy Margolis Gallery, New York, on view through October 14, 2017.

Levinthal remarks: "I like paintings ... that when you look at first, it's inviting, it feels good to look ... but then there's something to hold you into the painting ... there's something there [to make] you think there must be more than this, let me keep looking. And hopefully, the more you're looking it rewards you... It's exciting to me when that can be a painting moment or a narrative moment or if it can hinge on both..."

via: Gorky's Granddaughter

RELATED POSTS

Aubrey Levinthal's Refrigerator Paintings